Cordell Pace, aka PACE, Loves Real House Music!

I spin a unique blend of varied-tempo Deep Soulful Dance Tracks which can appeal to most crowds. I can read a crowd and adapt to its unique taste which is a skill that can keep a Dj working in this highly competitive field. My musical background is heavily-rich across all genres which is very valuable when it comes to how I attack the many House music styles that make up my play-lists. Club, Disco, Tech, Afro, Soul-Vocals, Jackin, Lounge, Classic and Progressive subgenres is what I pull from when I curate mixes!

Interview:

» “I can read a crowd and adapt to its unique taste which is a skill that can keep a Dj working in this highly competitive field.” – PACE

Start by giving me an overview of PACE. Where are you based, how did you first get into dance music, and how long have you been a DJ?

I'm based in Los Angeles, California. I first got into house/dance music when I was living in Chicago during the mid to late 90s. I carried that love for house to LA, and eventually my fan-love turned into DJ-love. As of January 2020, it'll be my 8-year anniversary as a professional DJ. 2 years prior to that I studied and trained the art of deejaying under the tutelage of local DJ legend Bob Bagha of Street Sounds.

You host OPEN HOUSE SELECTIONS. I LOVE the name and can't stop listening to this podcast.

Tell me more. How often do you release new episodes and where can people download it?

My weekly house music mix podcast is centered on deep and soulful house music. These tracks can be found from numerous producers centered all around the globe. I myself don't produce tracks but I'm instead a curator/tastemaker and proud of it. I find immense joy in finding/buying/mixing all these great tracks that range from downtempo, mid tempo, uptempo and beyond. I release new mixes almost weekly and anyone can subscribe/share/review/rate OPEN HOUSE SELECTIONS on all the major podcast platforms including iTunes, Google Play, Spotify, Stitcher and iHeartRadio.
