

SHANTO

Born in the London, England, traveled extensively as a child and finally settled and raised in Los Angeles, Shanto began his journey into Deejaying in 2005. His musical career started out as merely a passion for house music, quickly escalating and permeating into every aspect of his life. Since those early days he has forged a reputation for playing cutting edge music wherever he deejays or is asked to play. With innate help from exposure to a variety of sounds, he prides himself for his musical diversity and cultivated sense for quality sounds fine-tuned to fit every occasion. His constantly developing and evolving sound has helped him achieve the type of musical energy he has always pursued, while remaining consistent in his delivery of every set. Shanto has played on most main stages in town, and continues to expand his musical base, alongside some of the most revered and accomplished deejays and producers in the world of music. In 2013 he expanded into his second phase, the world of music production. Not one to follow any trends or rules, he has created his own unique sound and style, which he says always comes from his very being, his heart and his soul. For him, music is merely an extension of a person's emotional existence, growth and evolution. He is currently in the works of launching his new brand Encoded Within, a multi-dimensional audio-visual-spiritual time of connection.
